STANDARD OIL CO.'S ENGINE DISTILLATE AGAIN ON THE MARKET

The Standard Oil Co.'s tanker "Col. E. L. Drake" arrived at Port Allen last week with 4000 barrels Red Crown Gasoline and 2000 barrels of engine distillate. Distillate was only recently put on the market again after an absence of over a year.

This product, which is considerably cheaper than gasoline, is an excellent fuel for heavy duty slow speed engines, such as tractors, gas engine pumping plants, and large gas engine operating rice mills. The Company is in a position to take care of customers who wish to resume the use of this product, or any new customers.

POLICE GATHER IN AUTO SPEEDERS

Traffic officers stationed along the Wailua flats yesterday afternoon gathered in sixteen offenders for infractions of the traffic ordinance. Among the luckless ones to fall foul of the law were "King" Baggott, R. F. Middleton, County Engineer, and Postmaster Longstreth. They were all up before Judge Hjorth this morning and, after promising never to do it again, were allowed to depart, excepting one Fujio Enoye and one Louis Silva. These men were fined $50 and $25 for fast driving.

The police are to be congratulated for their good work.

The track meet was followed by an indoor baseball game played out doors. After each side had run up a score of twenty-five or so in three innings all retired to the ocean where body surfing kept them busy until time to go home.
